

Press Release ACI Sport Cat release for Seattle Boat Show

ACI unveils first trailerable Aluminum Ocean Class Recreational Sport Cat

Port Townsend, WA Jan 23rd 2017

ACI will be unveiling an ocean class trailerable aluminum catamaran at the Seattle Boat Show. Now the recreational boater has access to the kind of proven planning hull designs that law enforcement and passenger vessels have come to rely on over the years in a package topped off with the amenities and comfort demanded by the recreational sport fisherman and their families. This stable high speed aluminum 28' catamaran comes as either a full width cuddy cabin for the owner who wants more inside living space for cruising or a walk around cabin layout that maximizes outside space demanded by the avid fisherman that still wants the comfort of a pilothouse cabin.

Owner, Cory Armstrong said:

We excited to debut our trailerable catamarans for the recreational market. This catamaran fits a niche market that is not currently available in the US dealer network. We believe the rugged aluminum welded structures will fit the needs of boater's desire of high end performance coupled with easy maintain and durability. We have designed our boats to depart from the work boat look and have modern styling.

This new sport cat will be unveiled for the first time to the public during the Seattle Boat Show, Jan. 27 to Feb.4, 2017 at the ACI Booth #184 in the North building. The Lumacat line will range from the nimble 28' sport cat all the way up to a luxury high speed 54' yacht with a range of over 500 nautical miles.
